

Please note — potential projects must be reviewed to follow local requirements for masks and social distancing. These requirements may come from the government and/or school districts.

- Prepare appreciation banners and signs for first responders — doctors, nurses, EMT staff, fire and police — in your community and greet those individuals outside. Members of your club might have family connections to some of these public servants.
- Make signs of greetings for nursing home residents who cannot travel or meet with family. This could be a time for club members and residents to connect with each other.
- Survey club members to see who has been personally affected by COVID-19 in their family, school or community. Brainstorm ways to reach out to these families with signs, drive-by greetings or virtual events.
- Check with food pantries in your school and community to see what needs for food and supplies currently exist. Conduct a drive for those items and deliver them to the pantry. If regulations allow, help with the sorting and distribution of items.
- Conduct virtual exercise sessions. Students can create personal goal sheets, and your club can create a set of goals and accomplishments for students to meet.
